★ Regularly at UC Berkeley's Art, Technology and Culture Colloquium, a leading artist, engineer, or scholar reveals the inner workings of CULTURE IN A DIGITAL AGE—from mash-ups to electronic art to Internet democracy—to those yearning for another semester or two of college. Local professionals and creatives have vied with Cal students and faculty for lecture-hall seating to hear the musings of DJ Spooky, David Byrne, filmmaker Miranda July, and philosopher Bruno Latour. This year, they can look forward to free talks from artists like Cory Arcangel and Jane Cardiff and curator Rudolf Frieling. 510-643-9565, WWW.IEOR.BERKELEY.EDU/~GOLDBERG/LECS.
